

THE ECONOMIC IMPACT OF Crystal River Airport (CGC)

Aviation's Benefit for Florida

Florida's economic well-being is intrinsically entwined with its vibrant airport system and its robust aviation industry. The aviation system in Florida allows the state to capitalize on an increasingly global marketplace. Aviation in Florida both sustains and leads economic growth and development. Airports in Florida are important economic engines, and support vital health, welfare, emergency, and safety-related services.

Florida's system of commercial service and general aviation airports are important to businesses throughout the state. Air travel is essential to tourism, Florida's number one industry. Protecting and investing in airports throughout Florida will support the aviation industry and the economic benefits described in this report. With continued support, Florida's dynamic aviation system will continue to provide a significant economic return in the years to come.

Crystal River Airport

Located on a 196 acre site three miles south of the Crystal River Business District, Crystal River Airport serves many types of general aviation activities. With its two non-intersecting runways, the longest of which is 4,555 feet long, the airport can accommodate multi-engine general aviation aircraft. The airport's terminal is ideal for serving both local users as well as those visiting the area.

Crystal Aero Group, which provides flight training and fixed base operator services, is the airport's tenant. In addition to local traffic, flight training represents a significant portion of the airport's total activity. Crystal Aero Group and all of the airport's flight activities are critical to the airport's revenue streams and economic impact.

The annual economic impact of Crystal River Airport is associated with direct impacts that come from Crystal Aero Group and construction projects that are undertaken at the airport. Indirect impacts are associated with spending from visitors who arrive in the area via general aviation aircraft.
