

THE ECONOMIC IMPACT OF Jacksonville Executive at Craig Airport (CRG)

Aviation's Benefit for Florida

Florida's economic well-being is intrinsically entwined with its vibrant airport system and its robust aviation industry. The aviation system in Florida allows the state to capitalize on an increasingly global marketplace. Aviation in Florida both sustains and leads economic growth and development. Airports in Florida are important economic engines, and support vital health, welfare, emergency, and safety-related services.

Florida's system of commercial service and general aviation airports are important to businesses throughout the state. Air travel is essential to tourism, Florida's number one industry. Protecting and investing in airports throughout Florida will support the aviation industry and the economic benefits described in this report. With continued support, Florida's dynamic aviation system will continue to provide a significant economic return in the years to come.

Jacksonville Executive at Craig Airport

Located in eastern Duval County, just outside the Jacksonville central business district, Jacksonville Executive at Craig Airport serves many types of general aviation activities. With its two converging runways, the longest of which is 4,008 feet, the airport can accommodate most multi-engine general aviation aircraft. The airport's terminal is ideal for serving local users as well as those visiting the area.

Jacksonville Executive is home to two full-service fixed base operators, Craig Air Center and Sky Harbor Aviation. The airport also has several on-site flight schools, including Aerosim Flight Academy, Airline Transport Professionals, Holladay Aviation, and Sterling Flight Training. While flight training represents the largest segment of activity at the airport, Jacksonville Executive also supports corporate/business, recreational/sport, environmental patrol, aerial application, air ambulance, banner towing, blimp operations, general aviation charter, Civil Air Patrol, aerial advertising, and law enforcement activity on a regular basis. All of the airport's tenants and flight activities are important to the airport's revenue streams and economic impact.

The annual economic impact of Jacksonville Executive at Craig Airport is associated with direct impacts that come from tenants/businesses located at the airport and on-airport construction projects. Indirect impacts are associated with spending from visitors who arrive in the area via general aviation aircraft.
