THE ECONOMIC IMPACT OF Orlando Sanford International Airport (SFB)

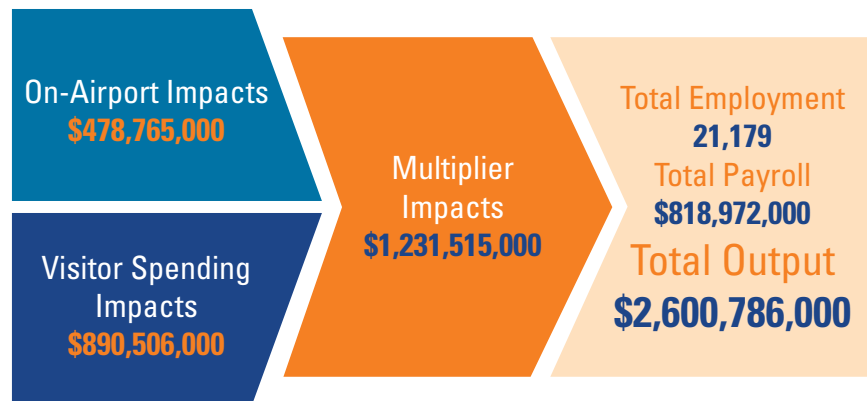

SFB

ORLANDO SANFORD INTERNATIONAL AIRPORT

Orlando Sanford International Airport is located in Seminole County, about 18 miles northeast of downtown Orlando. The airport has four runways, with the longest runway measuring 11,002 feet. The airport accommodates a full range of commercial and general aviation aircraft. In 2017, the airport had nearly three million passengers, most of which were domestic travelers. The airport provides low-cost services; all of the airport's top destinations are on a low-cost airline.

The airport also supports recreational flying and general aviation business. Due to flight training, the airport is consistently in the top 30 busiest airports in the world in terms of total flight operations. A fixed-based operator (FBO) provides services to both local and transient visitors. Airport tenants, particularly its flight schools, contribute to the airport's direct economic impact. The airport supports the community through its Aviation Career Day, a partnership with Seminole County Schools that exposes local students to aviation related jobs.

Previous versions of this Study used different terminology to communicate results. The following terms were updated: Direct Impacts changed to On-Airport Impacts and Indirect Impacts changed to Visitor Spending Impacts.

Florida's Statewide Benefits From Aviation

Florida realizes significant economic benefits from aviation. The Florida Department of Transportation completed a comprehensive economic impact analysis to measure these benefits. Benefits measured in the FDOT study considered on-airport impacts, visitor spending impacts, and multiplier impacts.

Florida's 129 public-use airports (including 20 commercial service facilities) are a major economic engine of the State's economy. The aviation system keeps Florida connected to the global marketplace while simultaneously driving local economies. Florida's airports provide space and infrastructure for important activities such as manufacturing, logistics, tourism, and emergency response. Below is a summary of the total statewide economic impact as well as the impact of District 5.
