THE ECONOMIC IMPACT OF

Punta Gorda Airport (PGD)

PGD

PUNTA GORDA AIRPORT

Punta Gorda Airport is located in Charlotte County along Florida's Gulf Coast, about 20 miles north of Fort Myers. The airport has three intersecting runways, with the longest runway measuring 7,193 feet. The airport accommodates general aviation aircraft, business jets, as well as a large number of commercial aircraft.

Punta Gorda Airport is the third fastest growing airport in the country. The airport primarily supports leisure travelers, spurred by the airport's continuous growth in low cost carrier service. The airport also supports flight training; there are four flight schools located at the airport. Military trainings take place at the airport, primarily thanks to the Coast Guard utilizing it for touch and go's. The forestry service uses the airport as its aerial firefighting aircraft base. Other activities at the airport include mosquito control, aerospace and avionics, emergency medical aviation, and law enforcement. The airport is engaged with the local community and hosts an annual charity event, the Florida International Air Show, to celebrate aviation.

Previous versions of this Study used different terminology to communicate results. The following terms were updated: Direct Impacts changed to On-Airport Impacts and Indirect Impacts changed to Visitor Spending Impacts.

Florida's Statewide Benefits From Aviation

Florida realizes significant economic benefits from aviation. The Florida Department of Transportation completed a comprehensive economic impact analysis to measure these benefits. Benefits measured in the FDOT study considered on-airport impacts, visitor spending impacts, and multiplier impacts.

Florida's 129 public-use airports (including 20 commercial service facilities) are a major economic engine of the State's economy. The aviation system keeps Florida connected to the global marketplace while simultaneously driving local economies. Florida's airports provide space and infrastructure for important activities such as manufacturing, logistics, tourism, and emergency response. Below is a summary of the total statewide economic impact as well as the impact of District 1.
